Course Description	Greco-Roman civilization forms the foundation of Western Civilization and exerts a pervasive influence on nearly every aspect of life that followed these great cultures. This course will provide a broad overview of the major features of Archaic and Classical Greece, the expansion of Hellenistic culture following Alexander the Great's conquest of the Persian Empire, and the evolution of the Roman state from Republic to world-shaping Empire. The course will consider the politics and ideologies that shaped the evolving states and the social systems that dominated the Mediterranean from 700 BC to 300 AD. The course will balance the short-term impact of political and cultural changes with the more predictable rhythms of agriculture and trade. Long-term socio-economic patterns shaped the daily life and culture of the people in the Mediterranean world, and underpinned cultural and ideological development.
