

APA 7th Edition Style Guide

Fall 2024

Alexander College

WRITING AND LEARNING CENTRE

Welcome to APA

This guide provides instructions and examples for citing sources in APA style.

What is APA?

APA stands for American Psychological Association, which is the name of the group who standardized this style of formatting and citing.

What is a citation?

A citation is a way to show where you found the information you are using in your work.

When do I have to cite?

Every sentence with outside information (anything that is NOT your own thoughts or interpretations) should end with a citation and have a corresponding full-length entry on the “References” page at the end of your paper.

Do I have to memorize the style guide?

No. Keep the style guide with you as you write and reference it when you have questions.

Glossary

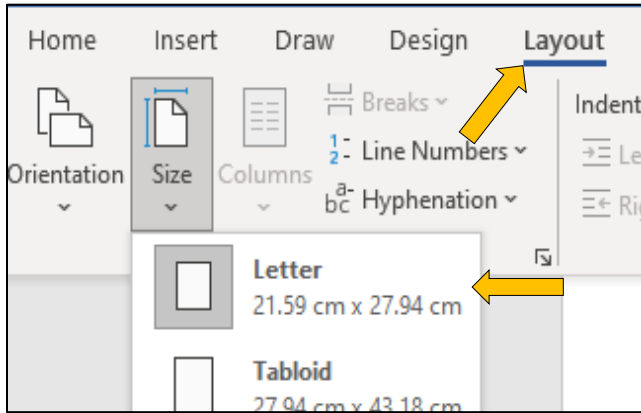

APA	American Psychological Association.
Ampersand (&)	The symbol for the word “and.”
Last Name	A family name or surname.
Stable URL/Permalink or DOI	A link that will stay consistent over time. A DOI (Digital Object Identifier) is a unique string used for online journals and academic articles.
et al.	Means “and others.” Used in cases of three or more authors.
Group Author	A company, association, organization, government department, or agency.
Accessed Date	The date that you read the source.
Inverted	Words placed in the opposite order, such as moving the last name to the front (last name, first name).
Indent	The 1.27 cm or 0.5-inch space from the margin on the first line of every paragraph and second line of every References entry.
Anthology	An edited collection featuring work by different authors.
Page Range	The first and last page numbers of an article or story. This is the section of a journal or book that you referenced.
Consecutive Citation	A sentence that needs a citation followed immediately by another sentence that needs a citation from the same source.
Indirect Citation	When you are using the ideas of one author written in another person's work. You will cite the author you are reading, NOT the one they are quoting.
Pseudonym	An alternative name such as a stage name, pen name, or username. These names are not normally inverted.

Paper Formatting

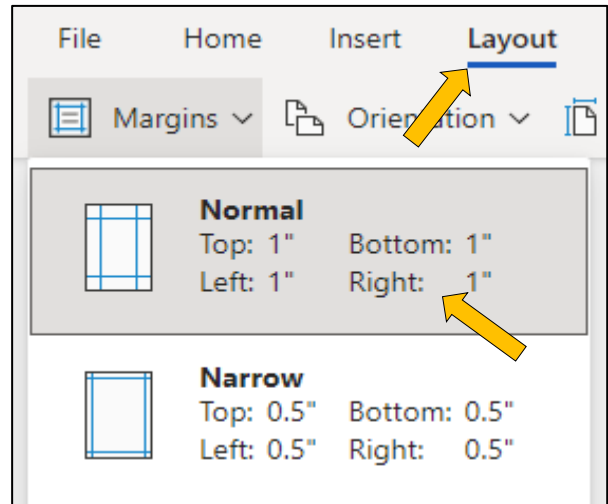

- Below are instructions on how to correctly format an APA paper in Microsoft Word.

General Formatting

Letter Size

1-inch or 2.54 cm margins

NOTE: Word documents, by default, are set to this format. Normally, students will not have to change the size and margins of their document.

First Line Indent and Hanging Indent

- Highlight Text.
- Right Click.
- Select "Paragraph Options."
- Select "First Line" or "Hanging."

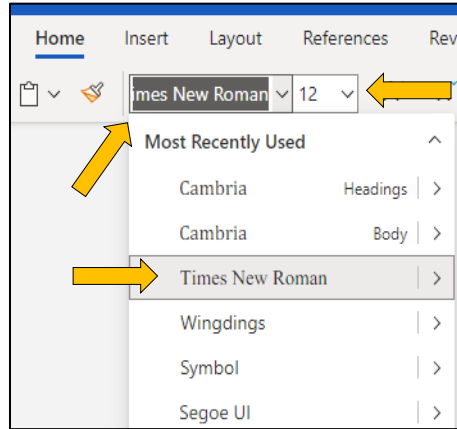

Hanging Indents are used for your References Page. The first line of each resource is formatted normally, but following lines of the same resource is indented inwards. Refer to "Example References with Notes" to see more.

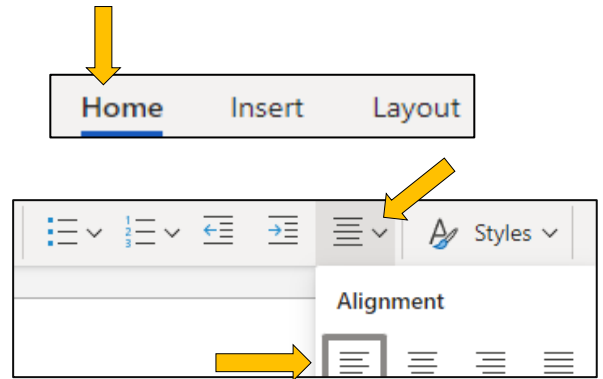

Paper Formatting

Font

- Times New Roman.
- 12pt font.

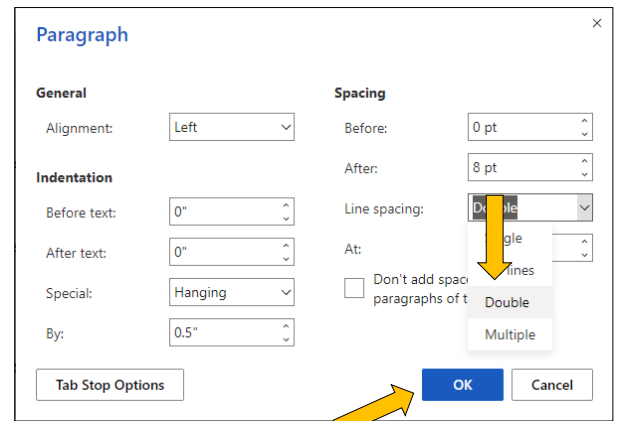

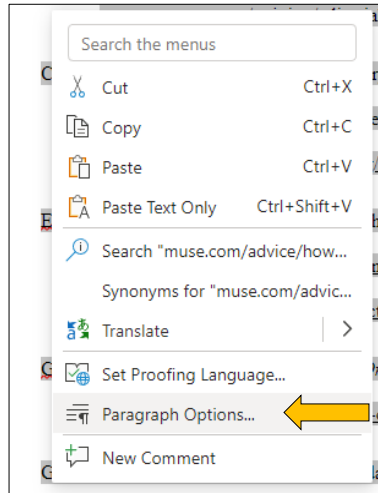

Left Aligned

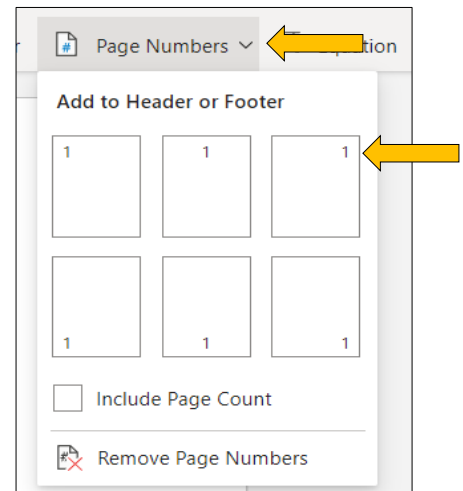

Double-Spaced

- Highlight Text.
- Right Click.
- Select "Paragraph Options."
- Click "Line Spacing."
- Select "Double."

Header (Page Number)

- Select "Insert" Tab.
- Click "Page Numbers."
- Select Top Right Image.

Page Break Function

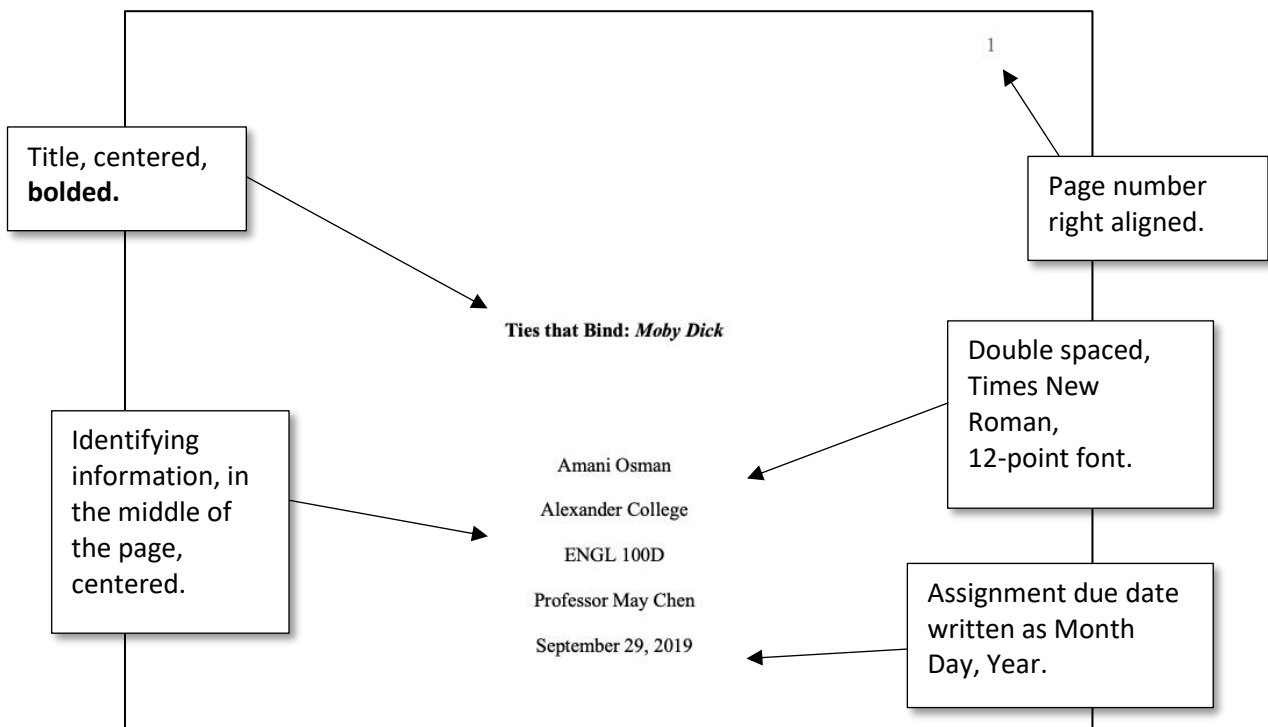

- Select "Insert" Tab.
- Select "Page Break."

Title Page

- Page number in the top right corner.
- Title, 3-4 lines down from the top of the page, centered, and in bold.
- One double spaced blank line from the title, centered, write your name, institution's name, course code, instructor's name, and the due date. Double space this identifying information.
- Begin the first paragraph on the next page after the title page.

In-Text Citations

When you use information, ideas, or facts that come from a source, you need to include a citation. In the body of the essay, put brackets () with the source information at the end of every sentence that includes outside information.

Include in-text citations for:

- Direct quotations: If you copy words from somewhere, you must include a citation. Use “quotation marks” to show that they are the author’s original words.
 - Example: The author claims “the number one cause of student stress before exams is poor time management” (Samuels, 2022, p. 6).
- Paraphrases and Summaries: When you take an idea, fact or opinion from a source and rewrite it in your own words, you must include a citation.
 - Example: The main reason students feel stressed before exams is that they don’t plan their time well (Samuels, 2022).

Required information for in-text citations in APA style:

- Author’s last name(s)
- Year of publication
- Page number (for direct quotations)

	In-text Citation	Explanation
1 Author	(Smith, 2012, p. 45).	Put the last name, year, and page number in brackets ().
2 Authors	(White & Haines, 2008, p. 35).	Use an ampersand “&.” Do not use the word “and.”
3+ Authors	(Atkin et al., 2013, p. 33).	Only write the first author’s last name followed by “et al.” to represent the other authors.
Paraphrase	(Cruikshank, 2013).	Paraphrases do not require page numbers.
No Date	(Brearton, n.d., p. 14).	Use the acronym “n.d.” (meaning “no date”) in place of the year.
No Page Number	(Jones, 2022, para. 21).	Use paragraph numbers. Paraphrases do not require page or paragraph numbers.
Group Author	(Autism Canada, 2018, p. 5).	Use the full name of the group author.

In-Text Citations

No Author - Article	Full Title: The Impact of Global Warming in North America ("Impact of Global Warming," 2017, p. 37).	Shorten to the first three words or a recognized acronym. Put titles of articles in "quotation marks." Remove the words "the, a, an" at the beginning of the title.
Indirect Citation	(Aronson et al., 1988, as cited in Ballard & Suedfeld, 2007).	Use an indirect source when the source you're referring to refers to another author. *See section below for further details.
Movie	(Welles, 1941, 2:45).	Use the director's name and year of movie release. Add a timestamp for direct quotes.

Direct Quotation vs. Paraphrase

- Direct quotes require page numbers. Paraphrases do not.

Direct Quotation "A key goal of Indigenous style is to show respect on the page" (Younging, 2018, p. 87).

Consecutive Citations

- Complete source information is required for every sentence that contains information from a source.

When considering factors of youth mental health, "family-focused treatment 'packages' in LMICs is particularly important" (Pedersen, 2015, p. 2038). Some key environmental aspects that foster mental well-being are "parent mental health, family cohesion and parent-child attachment" (Pedersen, 2015, p. 2037).

Full source information is required every time.

In-Text Citations

Non-integrated and Integrated Citations

There are two options for writing citations: Non-integrated and Integrated.

Non-Integrated End of the Sentence	People reported highly levels of happiness when they “used their financial resources to help others versus themselves” (Atkin et al., 2013, p. 22).	Include all the required citation information at the end of the sentence in brackets. This is NOT an integrated citation.
Integrated Within the Sentence	Atkin et al. (2013) found that people reported higher levels of happiness when they “used their financial resources to help others versus themselves” (p. 22).	Integrate the citation information into the sentence. Put the year in brackets () beside the author’s name at the beginning of the sentence and then add the page number at the end of the quote.

Indirect Citations

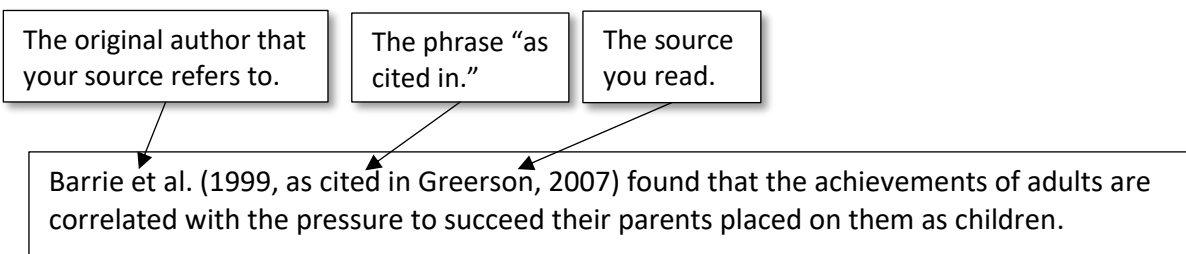

An indirect citation is when the article or book you are reading contains references to another source. You should use an indirect citation when you paraphrase or quote that information in your own writing.

Author of article you read Helen Greerson

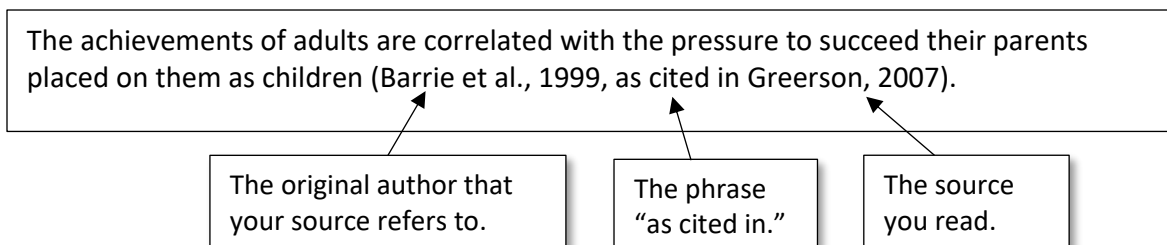

Publication Date 2007

Text from the article Some studies have revealed a link between parental expectations of success and children’s subsequent performance in adulthood (Barrie et al., 1999).

Example of Integrated Indirect Citation

Example of Non-Integrated Indirect Citation

References

- The References section is a list of all the sources used throughout an assignment or academic paper on a separate page at the end.
- References entries have a very specific format and organization. The following sections detail how each element of the References should appear.

Author's Names in the References

NOTE: Authors' names in References are inverted: last name, first name initial(s).

	Author's Name on the Source	Author's Name in References	Explanation
1 Author	John Winslow Irving	Irving, J. W.	Invert the name: last name, first name. Only write the initials of the first and middle names.
2 Authors	Leo A. Groarke and Christopher W. Tindale.	Groarke, L. A., & Tindale, C. W.	Use an ampersand "&" instead of the word "and."
3 – 20 Authors	Stanley J. Shapiro, Kenneth Wong, William D. Perreault, E. Jerome McCarthy	Shapiro, S. J., Wong, K., Perreault, W. D., & McCarthy, E. J.	List all the names by inverting them. Before the last author's name, put an ampersand "&."
Group Author	World Health Organization	World Health Organization	Use the full name of the organization.
No Author - Article	Around the Mission	"Around the Mission."	Use "quotation marks" around the full article title.
YouTube videos	Talltanic	Talltanic	Use the uploader's name.
Movies	Orson Welles	Welles, O.	Use the director's name.

Uncommon Name Formats	Original Name	Name in References
Hyphenated Names	Joseph Gordon-Levitt	Gordon-Levitt, J.
Multiple Last Names	Lindsey bat Joseph	bat Joseph, L.
Multiple First Names	Anne-Marie Bennett	Bennett, A.-M.

References

Multiple Middle Names	James Hugh Calum Laurie	Laurie, J. H. C.
First Name is an Initial	C. S. Lewis	Lewis, C. S.
One Name	Plato	Plato
Pseudonym	Malcolm X	Malcolm X

Title Capitalization in References

Article Title

These are written in sentence case – the same way you write a normal sentence. However, words after colons are capitalized.

Article title in source: Bowling Alone: The Collapse and Revival of American Community

Article title in References: Bowling alone: The collapse and revival of American community

Journal Title

Do not change these. Journal titles are capitalized exactly as they appear in the source.

Journal title in source: Child Psychiatry & Human Development

Journal title in References: Child Psychiatry & Human Development

Date

- Write the date in this order: (Year, Month Day).
 - Example: (2022, July 29).
- Use the date of the “last update” or “last revision” when available. Otherwise, use the “publication date.”
- If there is no date for a source, then write (n.d.), which means “no date.”

In-text Citation (Brearton, n.d., p. 14)

Reference "How to create a realistic travel budget that actually works." (n.d.) Budgetbakers.

<https://budgetbakers.com/blog/create-realistic-travelbudget>

References

URLs and DOIs

- Make sure that the link you are pasting into your References page is an active link.
- Active link means that the reader should be able to click on the URL or DOI and see the source you referred to.

URL in References

<http://www.thecanadianencyclopedia.ca/en/article/chinese-canadians>

DOI in References

<https://doi.org/10.1007/s10578-012-0325-y>

Abbreviation Rules

- There are some common abbreviations that are used in the References.
- These are usually found on books/textbooks.

Edition	ed.
Editor	Ed.
Editors	Eds.
Revised edition	Rev. ed.
Canadian edition	Cdn. ed.

- There is also a common abbreviation that is used for pages.
 - p. is used for in-text citations when only one page is being referred to.
 - pp. is commonly used to indicate the page range of the source in References. It can also be used when one quotation is found on more than one page.

In-Text Citation

References

p.	(Smith, 2012, p. 45)	N/A
pp.	(Anagnost, 1989, pp. 210-211)	Anagnost, A. (1989). Prosperity and counterprosperity: The moral discourse on wealth in post-Mao China. In A. Dirlik & M. Meisner, (Eds.), Marxism and the Chinese experience , (pp. 210-234). M. E. Sharpe.

References Examples

- Use the References Format as a checklist to organize the information of a References entry.
- Replace the information in the box with the source specific information.
 - The content without a box is written as is in the References.
 - Replace all instances of # with the applicable number.
 - Page range #-# -> 290-300
